Very thorough

The partners really are customers/clients; maybe move them to that space, along with other users. Main partners here seem to be the social networks they are piggybacking off of.

I don't understand the product, but that is one of the limitations of the format; there is no space to state what the product does.

I can check in at Yelp, and on TripAdvisor, I can see the places my friends go. I don't understand the distinction yet.
